

Charlotte Attorney Helping North Carolina Families

Few things are more tragic than seeing a loved one pass away. It also can be confusing and frustrating when you know it didn't have to happen. If you think your loved one's death was due to someone else's negligence, you need the help of an experienced lawyer.

Attorney Gregory N. Wilson can help you through this difficult time. He is known for compassionate treatment of his clients and aggressive work against their opponents. In a free initial consultation, he will listen to what happened and tell you how he can help. Contact us Attorney Wilson to set up a consultation.

No Charges Until You Win

At The Wilson Law Firm, PLLC, we know that at such a difficult time, you cannot be expected to pay attorney's fees. If Mr. Wilson takes your case, he will fight for you and your family on a contingency fee basis, which means that under most circumstances, you will pay him nothing until you accept a settlement or win a verdict. His offices are located in Charlotte and he can help victims of wrongful death throughout North Carolina.

Since opening his law offices in 1997, Gregory N. Wilson has handled several wrongful death cases. In each case, he was worked closely with the grieving family, going the extra mile to make sure their needs are met. He not only handles the wrongful death lawsuit, he also can help take care of estate issues and any other legal matters that may arise.

More about Wrongful Death

Attorneys can file wrongful death litigation in any car accident or other type of accident that results in a fatality. They can sue those responsible for any of the resulting damages, including pain and suffering, lost wages, loss of companionship, and loss of consortium. Damage awards may be impacted if Medicaid or Medicare is involved.

It is vital to know how important it is to act quickly in wrongful death matters. A lawyer is necessary to preserve evidence that can be crucial in the case.

It is also important to realize that many wrongful death claims are denied at first. If this has happened to you, do not be discouraged. This is seldom because the claims are legally invalid -- it is usually because the stakes are high in wrongful death cases, and insurance companies and other parties simply don't want to pay you what you deserve.